

Ourborite | LUX Series (sample Wood Finishes)

The Ourborite™ LUX Series features elevated aesthetics and durability with our new revolutionary powder coating and sublimated finishes. This advanced manufacturing process begins with the application of a specially formulated powder coating, known for its superior adherence and resilience. This eco-friendly coating is electrostatically applied and then cured under high heat, creating a hard, protective layer that is significantly more resistant to scratches, chipping, and fading compared to traditional paints. The series then introduces a specialized sublimation technique, transferring high quality wood designs onto powder-coated surfaces using intense heat and pressure. This process results in vivid, wood-like patterns that are seamlessly integrated into the coating, ensuring durability and colour vibrancy. These finishes are also formulated with UV resistant properties and can be cleaned easily.
